MESSAGE TO THE COMMUNITY

Fiscal year 2017 was an exciting time at South County Health. We made strides in helping to create a safer environment for patients, visitors, and staff, implemented programs that support community health, onboarded new medical staff, and received impressive recognition for our achievements.

MAKING CARE SAFER

As an organization we always work to improve safety in the care we provide and in our environment for patients and staff. Over the past year we have participated in a collaborative effort with other hospitals to become a High Reliability Organization. High Reliability Organizations strive to make everyone aware of how their actions affect safety. As part of this effort, we conduct a daily safety huddle in which each department reports on events or planned activities that might put patients or staff at harm. We want to ensure that we are doing the right thing at the right time for every patient.

In August 2016, The Joint Commission visited South County Health for a routine survey that takes place every three years. Overall, their findings were positive, including the transparency of information and the responsiveness of staff who interacted with the inspectors during their visit. The Joint Commission is an independent, not-for-profit organization that accredits and certifies nearly 21,000 health care organizations and programs in the United States. Joint Commission accreditation and certification is recognized nationwide as a symbol of quality that reflects an organization's commitment to meeting certain performance standards. We were pleased to achieve re-accreditation by The Joint Commission.

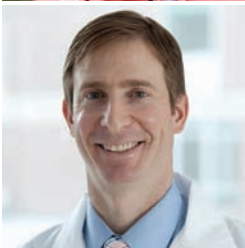

The safe practices and protocols used by our staff continue to lower the incidence of surgical site infections, blood stream infections, and other complications that can occur as a result of surgery and hospitalization. To ensure that patients receive not only quality care, but attentive care, we've formed a patient experience team that works diligently to identify areas where the overall patient experience can be improved.

MILESTONES & RECOGNITIONS

Our Medical & Wellness Center in Westerly, our new Cancer Center and the remodeled Women and Newborn Care Unit celebrated their one-year anniversaries in fiscal year 2017. They have received great reviews from patients and staff alike.

The Orthopedics Center implemented new robotic techniques so that total knees are now performed using robotic-arm assisted technology. South County Health Orthopedics Center is now doing over one-third of all joint replacements in Rhode Island, and we are the only hospital to publish quality outcomes for orthopedics.

South County Health continues to receive recognition for its quality and patient experience. In 2017, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid recognized South County Hospital as one of only 19 hospitals in the country to receive two 5-Star ratings – for quality care and patient experience. We were the only hospital in the Northeast to receive two 5-Star ratings. We are fortunate to have incredibly dedicated staff who made this distinction possible. Quality care and a positive patient experience are always our top priorities.

ADDRESSING BEHAVIORAL HEALTH NEEDS

The most recent statewide Community Health Needs Assessment conducted through the RI Department of Health indicated that behavioral health is a significant concern among residents in Washington County. With the highest suicide rate in the state and more than 147 opiate overdoses reported in 2016, behavioral health in our area needs to be addressed. The South County Health Board of Trustees voted to make behavioral health the key focus for its Community Health Assessment Implementation plan. Below are a number of initiatives South County Health supported during the last year or two, among others, to help build a stronger, healthier community.

- Fund-a-Need Initiative
 Our Fund-a-Need program currently supports the efforts of South County Healthy Bodies, Healthy Minds (SCHBHM), a vigorous, collaborative, long-term effort to help provide equal access to healthy living resources and lifestyles regardless of race, income, or gender.
- Suicide Prevention Training
 Ninety percent of those who commit suicide and half of all drug abusers show an underlying mental illness. SCHBHM conducts local youth mental health first aid trainings to help parents and adults who work with youth recognize early warning signs of mental health problems as well as how to intervene when a person experiences a mental health crisis.

- The Greatest Eight
 SCHBHM also launched “The Greatest Eight,” an innovative evidence-informed, public health intervention (in partnership with University of Rhode Island and Brown University Continuing Medical Education Office) to promote social-emotional competence in children ages zero to eight.

Investing in Care for the Community

A note from J. Russell Corcoran, MD, Chief Medical Officer

“Express Care realized a 34% increase in patient volume in 2017.”

In Fiscal Year 2016 we were pleased to report that South County Health completed three significant milestones for the health of the community - the new Medical & Wellness Center in Westerly, the newly renovated Women and Newborn Care Unit, and our comprehensive, state-of-the-art Cancer Center. Building on those successes, the results of Fiscal Year 2017 illustrate that these investments in the community, and the excellent care provided to patients, were not only warranted, but welcomed.

The Medical & Wellness Center in Westerly experienced continued growth in primary care with many new patients seeking its services. To meet the demand, a nurse practitioner will be added to our medical staff in 2018. Likewise, the Center for Women’s Health has become a valuable resource for women, adding a comprehensive list of services to our OB/GYN practice. Now, women have all the high quality services and personalized care they need for every stage of life, close to home.

For those who need quick medical attention for non-life-threatening injuries and illnesses, Express Care has delivered quality care, realizing a 34 percent increase in patient volume.

South County Health and the South County Medical Group will continue to expand the specialty services offered at the Medical & Wellness Center in Westerly, bringing board-certified physicians who specialize in cardiology, general surgery, and nephrology into that area of the state.

Our partnership with Ortho Rhode Island South County continues to serve patients across the state and beyond. Through the South County Health Orthopedics Center, our surgeons perform over one-third of all joint replacements in Rhode Island. Patients receive excellent orthopedic care that we can all be proud of.

At South County Hospital, our hospitalist program provides individualized care to inpatients while communicating their progress to their personal physicians. As visits to our emergency room continue to grow, that department achieved Level 3 Care designation, becoming the first step toward recovery for patients with opioid use disorder.

The growth in the number of patients who use South County Health is a tribute to the caring attitude of the medical and ancillary staffs across our health system.

Offering Assistance and Compassion

A note from Nadine Mollo McCauley, Manager, Volunteer Services Department

The mission of every South County Health volunteer is to provide the highest level of support, assistance, and compassion to all patients, staff, and visitors. This year, our capacity to perform this role grew even further. Let the numbers tell the story of 2017:

Introducing the Patient Portal Volunteers

Volunteers visit newly admitted patients and help connect them to their own private health records. With the support of the Patient Access Department, volunteers see patients who have opted to participate in SCH's online Patient Portal, helping them to navigate the system. Patients are able to:

- View their diagnostic imaging, laboratory and EKG results.
- Ensure their healthcare provider has the correct contact information.
- Update their health information, including allergies, medical conditions, and procedure history.

South County Hospital Auxiliary

Since 1976, the Auxiliary has raised more than $1.5 million for Hospital services and equipment through fundraising events and contributions from the Coffee and Gift Shops. The Auxiliary works hard to promote South County Hospital through community fundraising events, including its Annual Fashion Show.

- Coffee Shop extended hours to five days a week and assisted the Food & Nutrition Department with support during its shut down, increasing the shop's net profits by $18,700
- Gift Shop increased its net profit margin by 50% to $29,600
- Annual Fashion Show fundraiser remained a highly anticipated event, drawing nearly 400 guests

“Healthcare systems with high staff engagement have higher quality and safety...”

A National Leader in Workplace Wellness and Development

A note from Maggie Thomas, AVP & Chief Human Resources Officer

South County Health’s Human Resources Department raised the bar in workplace services and programs at every level over the past year. Through expansion and continued staff education, the department continued to see an increase in employee satisfaction and participation in wellness programs that impact not only staff members, but their families as well.

Program Accolades

South County Health’s Well Beyond program garnered national attention and recognition in 2017. SCH’s program was ranked number 43 in the country across all industries and companies of any size in 2017, the highest ranking nationally of any other employer in the state of Rhode Island. Providence Business News named SCH one of the Healthiest Employers in RI, including top honors in our employer size for the fourth and third consecutive years respectively. Since 2008, we have been awarded an Exemplary Worksite Health Award from the Greater Providence Chamber of Commerce and 2017 was no different.

Striving for Excellence

While the Well Beyond program has earned much acclaim and recognition, we still strive to earn higher marks nationally. The strategic goal of the Human Resources Department is to see SCH in the top 5% nationally for staff engagement. It’s been proven that healthcare systems with high staff engagement have higher quality and safety with fewer hospital-acquired infections/conditions; shorter lengths of stay with fewer readmissions; improved patient experience as measured by HCAHPS scores; improved finances including higher net margins; lower per-patient spending for readmissions; and improved organizational cultures as measured by productivity, retention and image in the community. In working toward that goal, we implemented the following by way of leadership educational programs in 2017:

- Goal setting to align an individual’s performance goals with SCH’s strategic plan and annual operating goals.
- Recognizing achievements and rewarding staff.
- Ensuring staff demonstrate SCH’s Guiding Values of caring, respect, collaboration, integrity, and excellence.
- Supporting staff in their professional development goals.
- Including staff engagement in individual, annual goals and performance assessments.

RN to BSN Cohort

SCH saw the graduation of its first RN to BSN cohort in 2017. Twenty-one registered nurses from the system earned their Bachelor of Science degree in nursing. It takes approximately 49 credits to complete the program depending on the employee's academic transcripts. This first cohort participated in two classes, of ten-week sessions each, completing eight classes in one year. As of 2014, just under 50% of hospitals in the U.S. require new hires to have a minimum of a BSN, while just under 80% express a strong preference for BSN graduates when looking for new nursing hires. Currently 57% of the RNs employed by SCH have their BSN or higher.

Continuing our Success in Quality Improvement

A note from Elaine Desmarais, Vice President, Performance Improvement, Regulatory & Corporate Compliance

In October 2015, South County Health (SCH) began its endeavor to become a High Reliability Organization (HRO) with a long-term goal of zero preventable harm to patients. By adopting protocols and practices used in other high-risk industries, such as aviation and nuclear power, South County Health aims to eliminate unintended harm.

In fiscal year 2017 SCH started training staff in HRO Error Prevention. All staff will be trained by June 2018. Of 1,440 staff members and 303 medical staff, 980 and 188, respectively, have completed the training as of this writing.

Metrics indicate positive outcomes since transitioning to a culture of high reliability. In 2015 the average number of days between serious safety events across South County Health and four other participating hospitals in Rhode Island averaged 8.2 days. In other words, every eight days a patient suffered avoidable serious harm. At South County Health that timeframe averaged 19 days. In calendar year 2017, South County Health went 120 consecutive days with no serious safety events—and this figure has already improved in 2018. Staff reporting of safety events doubled over the past year, creating opportunities for improvement.

By the end of 2018 South County Health will have an ongoing process for continuous HRO error prevention training as new staff come on board. The work will continue to improve reliability through process design, which includes:

- ensuring evidence-based best practice
- using error prevention techniques
- analyzing causative factors
- making tactical improvements and learning from near miss reporting, great catches, and safety stories

Our continued success and the remarkable results thus far are a credit to the commitment from staff to transparency, reporting, and maintaining just culture.

Schwartz Center Rounds

In June 2016 South County Health adopted Schwartz Center Rounds, offering healthcare providers a time during their fast-paced work lives to openly discuss the social and emotional issues they face in caring for patients and families. In contrast to traditional medical rounds, the focus is on the human dimension of medicine. Caregivers have an opportunity to share their experiences, thoughts and feelings on thought-provoking topics drawn from actual patient cases. The premise is that caregivers are better able to make personal connections with patients and colleagues when they have greater insight into their own responses and feelings.

Piloted at Mass General Hospital in 1997, Schwartz Rounds have expanded across the country. Currently, the Schwartz Center Rounds are held at more than 475 sites in the United States, Canada, and the UK. South County Health holds Schwartz Center Rounds six times per year.

Topics discussed during Schwartz Center Rounds this fiscal year included:

- Cancer: When above & beyond is not enough
- The Many Faces of Addiction: The challenges of caring for patients with substance use disorders
- Nursing: The balance of mind, body and spirit
- Feeling Good: Healing and wellness with integrative therapies

Continuing Our Success

In the spirit of patient safety and the continued journey toward becoming an HRO, the Performance Improvement plan for 2018 targets the following topics as a priority focus:

- Reduction in Hospital Acquired Infections & Hospital Acquired Conditions

SCH's Inter-professional team led by our Infection Prevention Department was selected to present their work on reducing hospital acquired urinary tract infections at Pathway's national conference. We are on our way to zero. Preventing c. difficile infections is the 2018 challenge.

- Reducing Patient Identification Errors

Significant improvements have been achieved over the past few years through transparent reporting, studying cause, standardizing policy, using technology such as bar coding and HRO tools. Efforts will continue in 2018.

- Ensuring patients have knowledge of abnormalities uncovered that are unrelated to the condition prompting the test.

This is a new endeavor in which we are attempting to ensure patients are informed and understand the need for follow up.

- Reducing patient falls

SCH's fall rate is within expected parameters. We will be keeping this in our focus for 2018.

- Preventing workplace violence

Healthcare staff face significant risks of workplace violence. We now have federal requirements to take preventive action. A dedicated team of professionals has already made significant progress.

- Care transitions

Transition plans, not only from hospital to home, but during pre-hospital preparation, provide our patients with the knowledge and care necessary for a seamless experience.

We Are Here

*A note from Marcia Werber Feldman
Assistant Vice President, South County Home Health*

We are here to stay.

- Here to stay committed to our community. Last year we made over 84,000 visits.
- Here to stay committed to our staff, now 172 strong and growing.
- Here to help the members of our community, in all the phases of their lives, through any medical challenges that may come.
- We are here to support our community to achieve health and wellness individually, through education and care.
- We are here, just a phone call away. We are proud to be a part of this community.

South County Home Health has roots that run deep in this community. Although 2018 marks the 50th anniversary of South County Home Health (formerly VNS), the birth of our organization goes back to the early 1900s to six pioneer Visiting Nurse organizations: Westerly (1903), South Kingstown (1904), North Kingstown (1923), Charlestown/Richmond (1924), Jamestown (1925), and Narragansett (1943).

These small visiting nurse organizations were each seeing a handful of patients with a small staff. But, just like now, the mid 1960s saw a change coming to healthcare. May 1968 saw the birth of the Washington County Public Health Nursing Association, with 18 staff members. Through a series of changes in name and the healthcare community, that organization became what we now know as South County Home Health.

Although the work of South County Home Health continues to be the care of individuals in their home, it has adapted and changed as technology, demographics, reimbursement and regulations have changed. In the early days, nurses took care of patients in the home, assisting doctors with home operations, cooking, bed making, changing dressings, sterilizing milk, educating those in the home on how to function independently, conducting weekly home nursing classes, and giving aid and assistance as needed.

Today, South County Home Health provides nursing services, certified nursing assistants, physical therapists, speech therapists, occupational therapists, registered dietitians, medical social workers, and personal care. We continue to provide care of patients in the home, including wound care, care of chronic illnesses, care following injuries, surgeries and births. Additionally, we have expanded to include a Maternal Child Health (MCH) program, terminal care, services in senior centers, elder housing, and intensive home therapy for developmentally delayed infants and children.

The staff of South County Home Health.

Continued Growth and Quality Recognition

A note from Paul Desmarais, Manager, South County Surgical Supply

South County Surgical Supply has seen continued growth in all areas of business during fiscal year 2017. We were awarded the Quality Respiratory Care Recognition from the American Association for Respiratory Care, a designation that underscores the strict safety and quality standards of our respiratory care services by certified respiratory therapists.

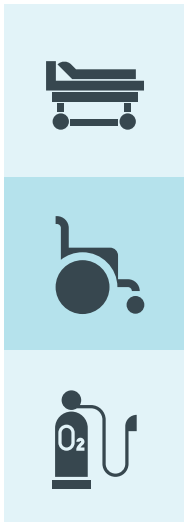

As a home medical supply leader in the state, South County Surgical Supply was tapped by the Rhode Island Department of Health and Human Services for advice for one of its cost-cutting programs. We were able to provide them with valuable information so that they could make informed decisions regarding quality and service.

South County Surgical Supply also was awarded a new Medicare contract to supply most respiratory items, including continuous positive airway pressure devices for sleep apnea, and durable medical equipment for the next two years. We're continuing to offer the latest advancements in sleep apnea treatment—state-of-the-art equipment that monitors patients remotely and records breathing patterns in real-time.

My thanks to the dedicated South County Surgical Supply staff who deliver exceptional service and care.

The South County Surgical Supply retail store is located at 14 Woodruff Avenue in Narragansett.

Working Together for the Health of the Community

A note from J. Russell Corcoran, MD, President, South County Medical Group

The physicians and advanced practice clinicians of the South County Medical Group provide care in multiple specialties and primary care, in both inpatient and outpatient settings. As the group continued to evolve and change over the past year, it experienced ten percent growth, totaling 163,000 patient visits. The largest growth was seen in two areas - Express Care (34%) and specialty services (6%).

We've continued our partnership with Integra and Rhode Island Primary Care Physicians Corporation (RIPCPC). RIPCPC, an advanced Independent Practice Association (IPA), provides our physicians with education and support for our Patient Centered Medical Homes (PCMH). These partnerships have proven to be productive endeavors, leading to shared savings for primary care physicians.

The South County Medical Group will continue to face challenges in the future. We have worked hard over the last two years to control costs and improve productivity. These efforts are paying off with increased patient visits as described above. Under the leadership of Assistant Vice President of the South County Medical Group Ann Rubino, our practice managers, and the physician advisory board, we have developed an operational plan for the coming year. This plan will help to ensure the sustainability of the medical group as a vital part of South County Health.

Because Your Health is Everything

*A note from Kimberly O'Connell
Vice President, Strategic Planning & Market Development*

At South County Health, we believe that supporting health at every stage of life is essential. That's why we offer programs, services, and community resources to those of all ages to help maintain or achieve optimal health and happiness. From our free evening lecture series, to support groups, to health screenings, we want to be your resource for good health.

As an integral member of the South County community, we also think it's important to support other community organizations in their efforts to make South County a healthier place. By sponsoring 5k races, Little League teams, and golf tournaments to name a few, we want to create an environment where everyone can thrive.

We will continue to seek opportunities to connect with our community beyond the walls of South County Hospital in an effort to support our vision: To forge extraordinary connections with our community that support health at every stage of life.

Frances McGillivray Tribute Campaign

The South County Health Frances McGillivray Tribute Campaign provides an opportunity to publicly recognize a person or people who made a positive impact on your life, or who simply deserves recognition for their personal or professional achievements. The names of honorees are listed on a plaque in the main lobby of the Hospital for an entire year. The May 11 event honored Dr. Steven Fera for his 30 years of service to the Hospital. A dedication ceremony was held in the Hospital lobby where the McGillivray family made a special presentation to Dr. Fera.

Invitational Golf Tournament

South County Health held two spectacular days of golf on June 6 and 7 at the Misquamicut Club in Watch Hill. On June 6, our sponsors played in the Invitational tournament. Despite the rain, the golfers had a great day. On the second day, ten foursomes came out for a leisurely day of golf.
